

Visit the Cuban Parrot Reproduction Station

Category: TourismCreated: Monday, 18 May 2020 08:29 - Last Updated: Tuesday, 24

November 2020 16:44

Hits: 1120

Visit to the Cuban Parrot Reproduction Station:

It is 8 km from the National Highway and is especially attractive for those interested in the protection and conservation of endangered species, where you can enjoy the conservation of the species and exchange with specialists about its different characteristics. It has an infrastructure of cages for parrot breeding pairs and others for young specimens on display, customers are welcomed and the objectives of the Center, the management for the reproduction, feeding and life cycle of these animals are explained to them. that present a certain degree of threat in the natural environment, the visit lasts approximately 45 minutes, it is allowed to take photos of the place and of the animals. The load capacity is two daily groups of up to 16 pax.